Welcome to our grammar lesson about comparisons of equality in Spanish. Comparisons of equality are those where two things or people are equal in some way. English sentences like "Dancing is as fun as singing", or "Ana has as much money as Juan" are comparisons of equality. We basically use two formulas to make comparisons of equality in Spanish: one with tan como and one with tanto como. Two comparisons of equality in this lesson we will learn both formulas and read example sentences. At the end you'll find a Quiz and an Exercise for practice. Comparisons with "tan como" tan como means "as... as...". We ALWAYS need an adjective or an adverb between tan and como. Examples: Mi hermano es tan alto como yo.My brother is as tall as I am. Los atletas corren tan rápido como un tigre.The athletes run as fast as a tiger.Sus hermanas son tan listas como ella.Her sisters are as smart as she is. Comparisons with "tanto como" tanto como means "as much... as...". Examples: María lee tanto como Ana.María reads as much as Ana.Nosotros dormimos tanto como ellos.We sleep as much as they do. If the comparison is about something expressed with a noun, we place that noun between the 2 words of the formula: Paco tiene tanto dinero como Manuel.Paco has as much money as Manuel. Also, in this case we need to match tanto to the gender and number of the noun. So here there are 4 possibilities: tanto / tanta / tantos / tantas (with the plural forms tantos and tantas, the comparison means "as many... as...") Examples: La niña come tanta pasta como el niño.The girl eats as much pasta as the boy. Hay tantos barcos en el mar como ayer.There are as many ships at sea as yesterday. Mi barrio tiene tantas bibliotecas como el tuyo.My neighborhood has as many libraries as yours. Note: Sometimes the comparison can be about a noun that is left unsaid, but it is still about that noun. So we still need to match tanto to its gender and number. Tengo tantas como tú.I have as many as you do. (as many of something feminine plural that is left unsaid. For example, it could be "mesas") An interesting case: when "tan como" becomes "tanto como" We have explained that the formula "tan como" always needs an adjective or an adverb between the two words.If we choose to leave that adjective or adverb unsaid, tan como becomes tanto como.For example, look at the answer in the following exchange: ¿Es Laura tan simpática como Carmen?Is Laura as friendly as Carmen?Sí, tanto como Carmen.Yes, as much as Carmen. (we leave "simpática" unsaid in this sentence) Practice Quiz Take this short Quiz to test your knowledge about comparisons of equality in Spanish: Question Your answer: Correct answer: You got {{SCORE_CORRECT}} out of {{SCORE_TOTAL}} Exercise Complete the sentences below choosing between "tan, tanto, tanta, tantos, tantas" to form comparisons of equality: 1) En España hay ___ iglesias como en Francia.In Spain there are as many churches as in France.2) Las gafas son ___ caras como el reloj.The glasses are as expensive as the watch.3) Elena estudia ___ como Carlos.Elena studies as much as Carlos.4) He comprado ___ mermelada como tú.I have bought as much jam as you have.5) El reloj es ___ barato como el anillo.The watch is as cheap as the ring.6) Yo no tengo ___ suerte como tú.I don't have as much luck as you do.7) Este material es ___ flexible como ese.This material is as flexible as that one.8) Yo corro ___ como ellos.I run as much as they do.9) ¿Es la playa tan bonita como la montaña? – "Sí, ___ como la montaña".Is the beach as beautiful as the mountain? – "Yes, as much as the mountain". Solutions: 1) tantas2) tan3) tanto4) tanta5) tan6) tantas7) tan8) tanto9) tanto Other comparisons: comparisons of inequality We have a separate lesson about comparisons of inequality. Learn comparisons of inequality Welcome to our grammar lesson about superlatives adjectives in Spanish, using the words más and menos. With superlatives, we can express that something is at the top or at the bottom of a certain category. For example, instead of saying that something is "beautiful", we can say it is "the most beautiful" or "the least beautiful". Two examples of superlatives with "más" and "menos" In this lesson we will learn how to form these superlatives in Spanish, with many examples. At the end you'll find a Quiz and an Exercise for practice. Forming superlatives Regular cases Almost all adjectives form superlatives in a regular way. We just need to apply one of these two formulas, one for "the most ___" and one for "the least ___". Formulas: "the most ___" = (el / la / los / las) + "más" + adjective "the least ___" = (el / la / los / las) + "menos" + adjective Example sentences: Este coche es el más moderno.This car is the most modern.Laura es la menos inteligente de nuestra clase.Laura is the least intelligent in our class.Somos los menos altos del grupo.We are the least tall of the group.Estas sillas son las más cómodas.These chairs are the most comfortable. Irregular cases There are some adjectives that have special superlative forms: AdjectiveSuperlativePlural bueno (good)mejor (best)mejores malo (bad)peor (worst)peores pequeño (small)menor (smaller)menores joven (young)menor (younger)menores grande (big)mayor (bigger)mayores viejo (old)mayor (older)mayores For these superlatives, we don't need the words "más" and "menos". Instead, we use this shorter formula: Formula for irregular cases: (el / la / los / las) + irregular form Example Sentences: Mi ordenador es el peor.My computer is the worst.Ellos son los mayores del grupo.They are the oldest of the group. Inserting a noun in the formulas It is possible to insert a noun in the formulas if we want to. For the regular cases, we can place a noun right after the article: Este coche es el coche más moderno.This car is the most modern car.Laura es la chica menos inteligente de nuestra clase.Laura is the least intelligent girl in our class.Somos los chicos menos altos del grupo.We are the least tall boys of the group.Estas sillas son las sillas más cómodas.These chairs are the most comfortable chairs. For the irregular cases, sometimes it sounds better to place the noun after the article: Ellos las personas mayores del grupo.They are the oldest people in the group. And sometimes after the superlative form: Mi ordenador es el peor ordenador.My computer is the worst computer. Practice Quiz Take this short Quiz to test your knowledge about superlatives in Spanish: Question Your answer: Correct answer: You got {{SCORE_CORRECT}} out of {{SCORE_TOTAL}} Exercise Now we are going to practice with sentences. Fill the gaps with the necessary words to form superlatives: 1) Laura es ___ egoísta de todos nosotros.Laura is the least selfish of us all.2) Soy ___ inteligente de mi familia.I am the most intelligent in my family. (said by a man)3) Este coche es _____.This car is the best.4) Tus amigos son _____.Your friends are the best. (meaning female friends)5) Estos móviles son _____.These cellphones are the worst. Solutions: 1) la menos2) el más3) el mejor4) las mejores5) los peores Another type of superlative: with the suffix "-ísimo" There is another grammar construction in Spanish we also call superlative. It is when we express an adjective to an extreme degree, with a suffix such as "-ísimo". We teach that construction in a separate lesson: Spanish superlatives with the suffix "-ísimo". Here are two examples of this different kind of superlative: El coche es carísimo.The car is extremely expensive. Mi casa es grandísima.My house is extremely big.
